

Citizens in Ancient Greece

The people in _____ (about 3000 years ago) lived in _____ which ruled themselves. In these city-states all Greek _____ over the age of 18 were citizens if both _____ were Greek.

states, Ancient, city, men, Greece, parents

Any _____ man born in a _____ land was called a _____. These foreigners living in Greece had no _____ rights.

foreign, citizen, free, metic

When an important community _____ was to be made, all the _____ would meet. They would talk about the matter and all citizens would _____. Estimates place on average 5,000 people at these _____ although 6,000 people were required to allow someone to earn citizenship status.

assemblies, vote, decision, citizens _____ and _____ Greeks without two Greek parents were also not citizens. They took no part in _____. government, free, slaves

All _____ positions were filled by _____: judges, generals and government officials. These upper class _____ owners were also known as _____. All _____ had the right to stand for election. About one third of all citizens were _____ in running affairs at any one time. citizens, land, elections, aristocrats, involved, important

Women had many _____ but few rights. They were not allowed to _____ or stand for election. vote, duties